Jesse Stuart to Lecture on Campus

Noted author Jesse Stuart will visit the campus next week.

The world famous writer, a native of Greenup County, will address freshman assembly Wednesday at 10:20 in Diddle Arena.

As the first guest speaker in Western's University Series this semester, Stuart also will address students and local residents Thursday, Oct. 6, at 8 p.m. in Van Meter Auditorium.

His major speech is entitled "Education and American Democracy (my kind)".

The lecture program series is co-sponsored by the University and the Earth Club, a local literary society.

Many of the popular Stuart's works, which are largely based on autobiographical events, have been translated into other languages.

As a cultural specialist for the U.S. Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, he has traveled in recent years to the Middle East and the Far East.

Stuart began his teaching career in a building which was converted from a stable and, ironically, is used as a stable today. He recounted his experiences in this school in the book "The Thread That Runs So True."

According to Miss Sara Tyler, director of library services at Western, this book is his most popular on this campus. Miss Tyler went on to say that all of his books at the library are "dog-eared from constant circulation and handling."

Several of Stuart's first editions housed in the Kentucky Building Library are personally autographed by him. It is expected that he will visit the library during his stay in Bowling Green to sign several new acquisitions in the collection.

State Student Association To Convene in Lexington

This fall's first meeting of the newly organized Kentucky Students Association will convene at the University of Kentucky's student center Saturday to complete plans for the statewide organization.

KSA was established last February by Bill Cunningham, Murray State University; John Lovett, Western; and Carson Porter, University of Kentucky.

'The Glass Menagerie' To Open Fifth Season Of Theatre Workshop

Tryouts were last Thursday and Friday in Snell Hall for Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie," the first of seven plays to be produced this fall by the Western Players Experimental Workshop.

The presentation, scheduled for Oct. 12 in Snell Hall Auditorium, will be directed by Leo Burmester, a junior from Louisville.

The Western Players experimental program is beginning its fifth year serving as a lab for acting and directing.

The program is coordinated by Dr. Mildred Howard working with a committee of Mrs. Frances Dixon and James Brown of the English department and student members Harrod Bradford Newland and James Diuquid.

The all-student creation presently consists of four representatives from each of about 17 Kentucky colleges and universities having student councils.

Cooperation within the association has produced results such as this semester's change of dorm hours in some Kentucky schools. Future agenda will include problems concerning entertainment on Kentucky campuses.

Representing Western at the conference will be John Lovett, from Benton, chairman of the Association's Academic Freedom Committee; Jim Fox of Paducah; Carmen Willoughby, Bowling Green; and Barry Simon, Pleasant, N.J.

Enrollment Sets Record

The University's enrollment totals a record 8,710 regularly registered students for the 1966-67 fall semester, according to figures released yesterday by Registrar Rhea P. Lazarus.

This figure compares with 7,824 students for the 1965-66 fall semester, making an increase of 886 students this year. The increase is 11.3 per cent.

Western's enrollment has climbed steadily over the years since Dr. Kelly Thompson became president of the University in 1955. At that time the school's enrollment stood at 1,685 students, only about one-fifth of the current figure.

Curriculum Expands
The University has expanded its physical facilities and its academic programs to keep pace with the spiraling growth in student population. Western is offering an expanded curriculum in nearly every academic area.

Its rapid physical growth is exemplified by the three new nine-story dormitories, two for men and one for women, opened this fall. Two structures, the Kelly Thompson Complex for Science and Lawrence W. Wetherby Administration Building, are under construction.

The 8,710 students enrolled in college classes at Western for the fall semester do not include enrollment in the Western Training School, the Western Area Vocational School, or the extension classes conducted away from the campus.

James A. Carpenter, Western Training School director, announced that 440 students are enrolled at the Training School for the fall semester. Enrollment at the Western Area Vocational School was announced as 346.

New Dorms Are Planned

Two off-campus dormitory complexes planned by private interests may be ready for occupancy next September — supplying housing for nearly 2,000 Western students.

One of the complexes—twin 14-story towers costing more than $3 million — is under construction in the 1100-block of College street on the former site of the Bowling Green College of Commerce.

The other complex—also a $3 million project — is planned for construction on a 15-acre tract of land at the intersection of the U.S. 31-W By-pass with Chestnut street. Its twin towers will be 10 and 11 stories.

See editorial on page 8.

The beginning of construction at this site is being held up by some property owners in the area who oppose the project. However, a spokesman for the Memphis, Tenn., firm which is building the dormitory said the complex will be completed by next September.

Suites Planned

The College Street complex — to be known as Western Towers — will house 408 men and 408 women. The dorm will have a suite arrangement with four persons in each suite sharing a bath which will separate the two rooms. The rooms will have carpeted floors and phone service.

Connecting the two towers will be a lounge and recreation area with a swimming pool and cafeteria. Also on the ground floors will be clothing stores and other shopping facilities. A penthouse on each tower will be used as a clubhouse and meeting area. Parking spaces for 230 cars will be available.

Western Towers is being constructed by Western Towers Inc., a corporation comprised of a group of Bowling Green business and professional men.

$495 Per Semester

G. D. Milliken Jr., a Bowling Green attorney who is president of the corporation, said students will be charged $495 each per semester, with meals included in the total. This compares

Varied Hill Activities Enliven Summer Term

By LEE MOLYNEUX

When the University closes its doors in June, it is not a sign that inactivity will prevail on campus. During the summer session, the campus is alive with preparations for workshops, conventions and meetings.

Following the presentation of the pylon declaring the school Western Kentucky University, a soil conservation meeting was on the calendar at the Garrett Student Center.

A regional Kentucky Welfare Association meeting was also on the docket for June.

The Girls' Club sponsored a Junior Leadership Training Course June 26-30. Young girls representing clubs in Georgia, Florida, Arkansas, Alabama and Tennessee stayed in the dormitories and attended sessions in the Academic-Athletic Building.

Alumni Days

President and Mrs. Thompson welcomed the Western Alumni Association July 8 and 9, the first annual Alumni Days. The activities concluded with a banquet honoring the University's guests.

The Human Relations Center, which is designed to elevate the educational potential and quality of state students, convened on the campus July 7.

The purpose of the meeting was to identify, examine and utilize instructional techniques and curriculum designed to aid in situations where desegregation has presented a new problem in the school system. The center is one of five in the United States initiated to alleviate problems stemming from desegregation and to better relations in the class room.

The Seventh Annual Educational Materials and Equipment Exhibit was in the student center July 11, 12 and 13. The book show demonstrated the newest school publications and instructional materials for schools.

In 1935 a tradition was begun at Western in the form of the Annual Superintendent Conference and Fish Fry. The University hosted a large number of school leaders from the state on July 15. The program was presented by the State Department of Education.

Summer commencement exercises were conducted Aug. 5 at Western stadium. Julian B. Goodman, newly named president of the National Broadcasting Company, and a former student of Western, delivered the address to the 437 graduates.

Eighteen hundred students from 40 states arrived on campus Aug. 7 to participate in the 13th Annual National Junior Classical League Convention. The delegates roamed the Hill dressed in togas, prepared for the Olympic events and contests and were entertained at Roman style, slave-served banquets.

Gov. Edward Breathitt welcomed the Latin and Greek students, and Charles Scribner of Scribners and Sons Publishers also spoke to the club members.

The Senior Classical League and the American Classical League met simultaneously with the J.C.L.

A 4-H Club Conference at the Garrett Student Center concluded the summer activities.

'Virginia Woolf' Tops Local Entertainment

By VINCE BRISTOW

George and Martha are entertaining visitors starting tonight at the Capitol Theater. "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf," the controversial screen adaptation of the Edward Albee play, makes its first local appearance since its release some few months back.

The story relates the events following a faculty party at which a newly appointed biology instructor and his wife are invited to the home of a long-standing professor of history.

Richard Burton as George, the history professor, and his wife Martha, played by Elizabeth Taylor, dominate the action. George Segal and Sandy Dennis as the newcomers share varying degrees of amazement and involvement.

The screen play by Ernest Lehman has tailored the three-hour play into a two-hour movie, and Mike Nichols, of Nichols and May comedy fame, paces the story well as the director. "The Nanny," with Bette Davis as a psychopathic governess, is the feature tonight at the State. "Major Dundee," a Civil War story with Charlton Heston and James Coburn, and "The Notorious Landlady" are Saturday's shows.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday it's "Marco the Magnificent," an old world adventure which has a notable cast including Omar Shariff, Orson Welles and Anthony Quinn.

The first of this year's art films is slated Wednesday with a look at the world of Federico

Fellini in "Juliet of the Spirits."

Student Center Feature

On campus this week is "Barabbas" to be shown in the little theater of the student center at 7:30 Friday and Saturday nights. A 25-cent admission charge will help the campus' fledgling Student Activities Committee finance the weekend movies this year.

The best of the TV movies this week should be "Rear Window," an Alfred Hitchcock thriller. James Stewart and Grace Kelly star in a story of murder witnessed by a peeping tom.

15 Young Republicans Attend State Meeting

Fifteen delegates from the Western Young Republicans club attended the state Y.R. convention at the Lamp-lighter Inn in Covington this summer. State-wide leaders were selected.

The Western delegation consisted of Janet Bowles, Tommy Bratcher, Tom Evans, Larry Farmer, Tony Gilstrap, Leon Hampton, Mike Huston, Elwood King, Mike Maple, Clay Morris, Bob Purdy, Tom Reed, Rod Sasse, Marilyn Simpson and Mark Skillern.

Activities included registration, meetings and elections.

A reception was given for Sen. John Sherman Cooper, who made the principal speech at a banquet highlighting the convention.

Nalbach Prepares For KIAE Meeting

Walter B. Nalbach, head of the industrial arts department, attended the meeting of the Kentucky Industrial Education Association Committee Saturday to make final preparations for the tenth annual KIAE Conference.

This conference will be held Nov. 4-5 at the Kentucky Hotel in Louisville.

Biological photography equipment, obtained last spring at a cost of $1,500, is now available to students and faculty members of the biology department.

Arthur Applegate, director of the equipment, explained that the photomicrographic equipment will be beneficial and time saving to the department.

"The use of photographs when speaking of a certain organism increases the effectiveness of teaching, consequently making the subject much more interesting to the student," Applegate added.

Girl 'Discovers' Past In Old, Deserted House

By JUDY GIBSON

Exploration of a deserted house turned up no ghosts for Patricia Costellow, a sophomore from Homer. History was her discovery.

An 1834 map found by Patricia and her father, Ansell Costellow, turned out to be a valuable copy of "Mitchell's Reference and Distance Map of the United States," engraved by J. H. Young, a distinguished British engraver.

The map has been presented to the Kentucky Building Library. This brings to seven the number of maps now in the library's collection of S. Augustus Mitchell's geographical works. The cloth-backed map gives an historical picture of middle 19th century America.

New Magazines

Four new magazines of interest to students are now being received by the library. For commerce students, there is The Kentucky Report, Kentucky's only independent business and financial weekly.

Other magazines are the Department of Public Information Travel Division's Things to Do in Kentucky; The East Kentuckian, a journal of history and genealogy; and The American Book Collector.

Historical Bible Given

The pages are amber with age and the backs are faded from black to sable, but the history that goes with the tattered Bible is young.

The Skiles family Bible, 175 years old, was presented recently to the Kentucky Building Library by Mrs. W. D. Neale and her daughter Frances of Nashville. Two photographs, one a tin-type, were also presented.

The Skiles family has long been prominent in Kentucky history and various members have been mentioned often in novels of this area. Jacob Skiles was a character in A. L. Crabbe's Peace at Bowling Green.

Please don't zlupf Sprite.
It makes plenty of noise
all by itself.

Sprite, you recall, is the soft drink that's so tart and tingling, we just couldn't keep it quiet.

Flip its lid and it really flips. Bubbling, fizzing, gurgling, hissing and carrying on all over the place.

An almost excessively lively drink. Hence, to zlupf is to err.

What is zlupping?

Zlupping is to drinking what smacking one's lips is to eating.

It's the staccato buzz you make when draining the last few deliciously tangy drops of Sprite from the bottle with a straw.

Zzzzzllupf!

It's completely uncalled for. Frowned upon in polite society. And not appreciated on campus either.

But, if zlupping Sprite is absolutely essential to your enjoyment; if a good healthy zlupf is your idea of heaven, well...all right.

But have a heart. With a drink as noisy as Sprite, a little zlupf goes a long, long way.

SPRITE. SO TART AND TINGLING. WE JUST COULDN'T

Proposed New Dorm Stirs Controversy

Those Bowling Green citizens who oppose the construction of a new dormitory complex at the intersection of U.S. 31-W By-Pass and Chestnut streets threaten to deal education a double blow.

These individuals would deprive the growing student body, and at the same time they would be a determining factor in keeping scholarship aid from worthy college students.

That Western has had — and still has — housing problems is not an unknown fact. For several years the influx of new students wanting campus living facilities has been so great that dormitories have been filled long before the school year started. And with dormitory waiting lists jammed, the University has issued many pleas for the city's homeowners to make available any vacant rooms for the use of college students needing a convenient and reputable place in which to live.

3,800 Housed on Campus

This year, by rushing the completion dates of three new dormitories, Western was able to increase the total number of beds available on campus to 3,800.

Dero Downing, vice president of administrative affairs for the University, last week discussed university housing before the city officials who were considering the re-zoning which would allow for construction of Ogden Towers, the proposed By-Pass-Chestnut Street housing complex. He stated that even with the College Street complex and Ogden Towers the University would still face a probable shortage of adequate housing.

It is quite evident, then, that opponents of the dorm complex can hinder Western's progress toward providing student housing. Not so evident is another way in which these persons would strike at an aspect of future education.

A large section of the proposed site of Ogden Towers presently is owned by the Ogden College Estate through the will of a former Ogden College student, R. C. P. Thomas. This property fronts on the By-Pass—one of Bowling Green's most heavily traveled thoroughfares — and until last week, when the city General Council re-zoned the area over the objections of a few disgruntled residents, the tract was zoned to allow only for one or two-family residences.

This zoning combined with certain restrictions in the deeds of property owners over the years had kept this potentially valuable property completely vacant because no one would locate a private residence on such a heavily traveled street. However, the tract was found to be well suited for use as a dormitory site, and the Ogden Foundation planned to sell the property, at last realizing something from the long-time barren land.

To Provide Scholarships

The Foundation reportedly has received an offer of $250,000 for the land. This money would go into the Ogden Estate's funds and would return to Bowling Green and Warren County as scholarship aid to Western students who otherwise might be unable to attend college. The returns from the sale of the property would be added to the more than $23,000 which the Ogden Foundation this year has awarded in scholarships to approximately 117 students.

But some residents of the area opposing the construction of Ogden Towers in spite of the advantages of the proposed project.

One of the leading voices in the opposition is Bowling Green's daily newspaper, the Park City Daily News. In a Sept. 21st editorial, the Daily News called the General Council action, which would allow construction of the dorm complex, "capricious and irresponsible," but the paper admitted it was "... a move that might be applauded and hailed as good for Bowling Green under different circumstances."

Area Commercialized

The editorial decries the Council's "... permitting big commercial developments in residential neighborhoods ..." calling the body's action "... ill-considered spot zoning ..." while apparently forgetting that the planned complex would be located on the By-pass—which aside from the downtown area, is one of the city's most highly commercialized sections.

The paper maintains, among other things, that "... the council was determined to deal with the matter without permitting their injured constituents to be heard." However, a local attorney had identified himself at the council meeting as representing the property owners of the area and presented the opposition's case to the group.

Under what circumstances, then, would these objecting individuals, "applaud" the construction of Ogden Towers? Apparently they would be satisfied if the complex were built elsewhere — a location where they would reap the benefits without any possibility of inconveniences, imagined or otherwise.

There is little doubt that a facility such as Ogden Towers would be beneficial to Western and to the city. These individuals who oppose it should reconsider their position and join with the Bowling Green citizens who unselfishly view the planned dormitory complex as another step toward a better University located in a better city.

Campus Entertainment Improvements Possible Through State Association

At last Kentucky has an all-student cooperative organization designed to promote discussions vital to state-wide campus problems.

The Kentucky Students Association can literally make entertainment for Kentucky campuses, or it can dwindle into a group who merely schedules meetings.

The lack of social activity during registration week is evident to everyone who had nothing to do until the weekend. There is a reason. When Western's Associated Students came into being, the University turned over entertainment responsibilities to that organization in the form of the Student Activities Committee. Consequently the budget for these activities was incorporated into the budget for the Associated Students. However, the budget for the association has not yet been completed, so the new government is temporarily financially uncertain.

Hopefully this situation will improve. The Student Activities Committee has already begun work. Movies sched-

Herald Staff Announces Letters to Editor Policy

This year the Herald is changing its policy regarding the inclusion of student and faculty opinion on campus matters. The scope of this area will be broadened by the initiation of a Letters to the Editor column to replace the previous practice of running Guest Editorials.

To provide a forum of intelligent and tasteful expression of opinion, the Herald welcomes letters from students, faculty and alumni.

In order to avoid inconsistency and confusion, the staff requests that a few rules be observed by those desiring to submit letters.

1. Letters should be typewritten, double-spaced, and should be limited to 200-250 words.
2. All letters must be signed and should also include the sender's classification or status and address. No names will be withheld from print.
3. Due to editorial page deadlines, letters should be received by the Herald editor, Seminar Center No. 1, by the Saturday preceding Thursday publication.

4. Letters which may subject the writer and/or the newspaper to charges of libel will be returned to the author to be rewritten or withdrawn from publication consideration.

5. The Herald is not obligated to print all letters submitted but will endeavor to provide equal space to expressions of both sides of any controversial issue. The column, however, is not open to prolonged or petty personal arguments.

6. No letters of condemnation will be published when it is impossible for the condemned to reply.

Class Officers Now Status or Necessity?

This week the election for student class officers is taking place. This brings to the front such annual questions as: What are the functions of a class officer? Do we need class officers? Who's that running for treasurer?

With the establishment of a student government this year, it seems the need for individual class officers has subverted the previous minimum. The class representatives of the student government could surely ascend the duties of these various class officers, whatever they are.

This procedure would decrease the annual deluge of campaign material posted about the campus. Also it would more clearly designate the functions of various student agencies and increase the possibility of these being carried out to a more satisfactory degree. Thus, the holding of a class office wouldn't be just an example of blatant social status but a useful entity.

To all of us, I extend the challenge to make the 1966-67 school year one which, in excellence, will fully measure to the university status which has been bestowed upon our institution. This we can accomplish by putting forth the best effort of which each of us is capable. May this school year be the finest one that you have ever known, and may it be the greatest for Western in its entire history.

Updating Continues In Physics Department

Western's physics department recently purchased a Nuclear Data Multichannel Pulse Height Analyzer to be used in the National Science Foundation program.

For the past few years the physics department has been updating its undergraduate laboratory equipment.

The new instrument is completely transistorized and is capable of reliable service for many years. Analyzers identical to this one are usually found only in large research laboratories.

The analyzer is now being used as a teaching device, but in the future it will also be integrated into the physics department research program.

Short Skirt Tuggers Rebuked by Censors

By TOD PORTER

Who isn't an advocate of the short skirt?

Certainly, it is more popular than the short story, and the cover is usually more appealing. However, the introductions are sometimes harder.

The short skirt does have its advantages.

For instance, a short skirt gives the girl who doesn't smoke something to do with her hands. A coed may spend any number of minutes adjusting, tugging and rearranging such a garment.

One who does spend an unreasonable amount of time in this pursuit is called "Miss Meticulous" and is oftentimes censured severely by members of the opposite sex.

Coed Advisory Committee

Male members of the C.A.C. (Coed Advisory Committee) in their regularly scheduled meeting this past week voted unanimously to consider "the tugging at a skirt or any action relative thereof to be a flagrant breach of etiquette regardless of its value as hand therapy."

Any female student reported for violation of this statute will be placed on the 1966 ballot as a contender for the Miss Green Freshman Award.

Dance Group Meets Tonight

Western Players will acquire another dimension in activities this fall by sponsoring the Dance Theater Group.

By special arrangement with the Nashville Ballet Society, classes in contemporary dance will be offered members of the Players or anyone else interested, for the purpose of developing a Western Dance Theatre Group.

Mme. Albertine Maxwell, choreographer for the Nashville society, will offer this training to a limited number of interested people. Western Players has underwritten the project for the fall semester and tentatively scheduled a first program from the group for January.

Registration for the organization will be tonight in Van Meter Auditorium from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Classes will begin Tuesday.

A small fee is requested of each member to cover the expenses of accompanist and other items necessary for operation of the class.

No previous experience or training is necessary for enrollment. The course is open to any member of the student body or of the community who is interested in this experience.

The instructor, Mme. Maxwell, is the founder of the Nashville Ballet Society. She has served as President of the Southeastern Regional Ballet Association and for the past 17 years has operated a summer dance workshop in Bar Harbor, Maine.

B. O. Flotsam, president of the C.A.C., has advised all members that local weathermen will be presented plaques for their cooperation in a recently published almanac, "Wind as Related to Girl Watching."

The Male Majority

In an unscientific attempt to find what other male students think about short skirts, two typical students were questioned. You know, students with long hair, no socks, dingy sweatshirts and a McDonald's hero medal.

One male approved of the short skirts, saying, "Male and female students should be more open and truthful with one another." Unfortunately, this student would not reveal his name, age or classification.

An ambitious senior said, "I didn't even go to swimming pools this year — just walked around downtown."

For the view from the far left, a male professor was asked about short skirts.

He replied, "I really had not noticed that women's wearing apparel has become, how should I say, brief."

"I am concerned, however, about some of my students, academically speaking, of course. This semester I already have nine boys failing and not a single pair of Hanes, er, I mean girls."

Six Hilltoppers Study, Travel in Mexico City

Six Western students, accompanied by Mrs. H. J. Huey of the Department of Foreign Languages, spent six weeks in Mexico City this summer while attending classes at the University of the Americas.

The students, Allen Harvey, Bowling Green sophomore, Robbi Beeler, Louisville, junior; Bernard Davis, a sophomore from Lebanon; Betty Haselden, a Bowling Green graduate student; Judith Krish, graduate student from Louisville, and Bill Reich, a sophomore from Forest Park, Ill., lived with Mexican families during their stay from July 4 to August 12.

Western's students chose courses in anthropology and sociology, economics, English language and literature, government and international relations, philosophy and Spanish language and literature.

All the lectures with the exception of the Spanish classes, were conducted in English.

The group attended fiestas and private parties, visited the historical sights in and around Mexico City and traveled to Acapulco, Xochimilco, Oaxoco, Toluca, Lake Patzcuaro and Teotihuacan.

Students interested in attending next summer's workshop can contact Mrs. Huey in Room 230 of the AAB.

Science Library Serves Large Science Area

By MARGARET UNDERWOOD

An area of library service which may not be familiar to everyone on campus is the science library. Serving the Ogden College of Science and Technology, it is located on the second floor of Thompson Hall.

This division of the library houses the books, periodicals and related materials most used by students and faculty in the departments of biology, chemistry, physics and agriculture.

In addition to providing materials, it serves as a convenient study area. Seating approximately 50 people, it is usually a scene of much activity.

170 Magazines

Indexes and abstracts necessary for locating periodical material are available to aid the reader in using the 170 magazines currently received.

Back files include about 1,000 bound volumes of magazines. Titles received range all the way from Actacrystallographica to Zoologica. The library also receives a number of government publications, including "Nuclear Science Abstracts" and other NASA publications.

The science library now contains approximately 5,000 books. Over a thousand were added to the collection last year.

There is a complete card catalog of the books in this library, and science library books are also indexed in the catalog of the Margie Helm Library.

Circulation rules are the same as those in the main library. Library hours are 7:45 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 7:45 to 4 on Friday. Saturday hours are 8 to 11 a.m.

WEDDINGS

Two couples chose Sept. 3 as their wedding day.

Paula Ellen Howard, junior from Louisville, and Bill Rush were married in Louisville. He is employed with Indian Finance Co. in Henderson.

Margaret Ann Chapman, home economics graduate from Woodburn, and Willie Ben Adams Jr., Franklin, are residing on a farm near Franklin.

Three Cadets To Receive ROTC Awards

Cadets John M. Reilly, Washington, D.C.; William P. Spinning, Nashville, and William C. NeSmith Jr., Hardinsburg, Ind., have been selected by the Department of the Army to receive two-year Army ROTC scholarships for this year and next at Western.

The awards are made annually to ROTC students entering their junior year.

Each scholarship will pay for tuition, textbooks and fees and will provide the recipient with an allowance of $50 a month for the duration of the award.

Nine MS II cadets were interviewed by the ROTC scholarship board concerning the two-year scholarship program.

Three Awarded Yearly

Each year at Western, two-year Department of the Army scholarships are awarded to three sophomore cadets in the basic ROTC course.

Cadets are chosen on the basis of their academic and extra-curricular record by the PMS and university officials.

Also taken into account are each cadet's performance in the basic course, his score on the ROTC qualification test, results of his physical examination and an interview to determine if the cadet is motivated toward a career as an Army officer.

The program was discussed at the group's first meeting, Thursday at 7 p.m. in the student center. Participants will read "Newsweek" for their main text.

This year the students receive three hours credit in contrast to one-half hour credit in previous years. The credits may fulfill requirements or electives in the humanities field.

Dr. Jim Wayne Miller of the foreign languages department is advisor to the program.

Members of Pershing Rifles will soon be issued new uniforms. Duplicating the dress uniform at West Point, these will be confederate gray.

Group Commended
President Thompson has sent the organization a letter of appreciation for the group's help during registration.

Officers for 1966 are Edmond E. Smith, company commander; William W. Willis, executive officer; William R. Thomas, advisory board commander; William Spining, drill team commander, and Jane Balze, sponsor.

Other officers include Gregory Lowe, Eric Forsythe, Wilford C. Voyles, Jimmy Smith, Charles Thomas, Larry Loftis and Alvin Appling.

Members of the color guard are Dan W. Brooks, Robert A. Mitchell, Ronald E. Martin, William G. Newman and Joe A. Carson.

Freshman Wins L&M Aid Grant

Troy Costellow, a freshman agriculture major from Russellville, was awarded the first scholarship sponsored by the L&M Book Company recently.

Harris Smithson, student manager for the company, said the semi-annual scholarship pays the winner's in-state tuition and books.

Entries are being accepted at the L&M Book Store now for the next drawing in January.

FROSH QUARTERBACK Johnny Graham rolls out to pass after a fake place kick conversion late in the second half of the season opener against St. Joseph's. The try for two points was successful as Western rolled over the Pumas 42-21. Also seen are halfback Bill Rose (25) and end Tom Watkins (87).

Yearlings Spark Hilltoppers In Two Straight Come-back Wins

Western's "Katzenjammer Kids" pulled several tricks out of the bag in their first two collegiate football games.

Freshman quarterback Johnny Vance and freshman halfbacks Jim Vorhees and Bill Rose are the "kids" who engineered the two victories. But each time they waited until the last half before unleashing a powerful offensive attack.

One of the tricks was to come from behind against St. Joseph's College of Indiana. Trailing 21-0 shortly before half-time, Vance led his team to a stirring 42-21 victory before an opening home crowd estimated at 6,000.

Vance's pin-point passing and the running of Vorhees in the second half demoralized St. Joe, and the defense responded to hold the Pumas scoreless in the second half.

Vance clicked on eight of 12 passes for 114 yards. Vorhees ran 23 times for 127 yards and three touchdowns, tying the

OVC Honors Simpson As 'Player of Week'

Hilltopper end Wes Simpson was named the Ohio Valley Conference Defensive Player of the Week Tuesday. Simpson was cited for his performance in Saturday's 24-7 victory over East Tennessee.

Simpson was credited with 10 unassisted tackles, three assists and one fumble recovery.

So far this season, the converted linebacker has tallied 14 tackles and seven assists.

school's single game scoring mark.

Hilltopper tackle Walter Heath broke up plays coming through the line, and Jerry Humble and W. C. Helton starred in the defensive secondary, picking off three of St. Joe's passes.

Second Win

The "kids" did it again last Saturday night. They registered their second straight win by toppling Ohio Valley Conference foe East Tennessee State University, 24-7.

Held without a first down in a scoreless first half, the Toppers exploded in the third quarter for three touchdowns.

All three of the "Katzenjammer" figured in the scoring. Vance made a one-yard run, Rose reached pay dirt on a 26-yard pass from Vance, and Vorhees scored on a ten-yard run through the line.

The Toppers were held to 46 yards in the first half, but they moved the ball 244 yards in the second. Vance broke the scoring ice early in the third period with a one-yard plunge and Tom Atwood converted to give the Toppers a 7-0 advantage.

Vance led his team 61 yards in four plays the next time Western had possession. Atwood

Chairmen To Organize Faculty IMs

Western's faculty and staff members will have an opportunity to participate in five intramural sports this year.

Newly appointed chairmen are: Dee Robertson and Bennie Beach for golf, Dr. Paul Hatcher for tennis, Dr. Joe Harkins for horseshoes, Walter Richards for table tennis, and Rhea Lazarus for bowling.

Plans are being made for a faculty intramural table tennis tournament Oct. 12, according to Richards.

Dee Gibson, director of the Paul L. Garret Student Center, won the championship flight of the faculty golf tournament during the summer at Indian Hills Country Club.

Rhea Lazarus and Steve Jacobs, defending champions of the faculty doubles tennis tournament, meet Larry Dykes and Charles Zettlemoyer for the net crown.

converted again to make the score 14-0. The Toppers tallied their last touchdown, covering 57 yards in six plays. Vorhees scored on a 10-yard run over right tackle.

East Tennessee finally reached pay dirt midway in the fourth period on an 81-yard pass from Bobby Meade to Ed Stinnett.

Western's Cross Country Harriers To Open Season Saturday At Florida

By TOM GRAHAM

Western's cross-country harriers, under the leadership of new head track and cross-country coach Burch Oglesby, open the 1966 season Saturday at Gainesville, Fla.

The Hilltoppers will take on a very capable University of Florida squad.

The Hilltop thinlies will be trying to improve on last year's season when they finished seventh in the Conference meet, the poorest showing in the sport's four-year history at Western.

Six returning lettermen, along with eight freshmen, make up this year's team.

Stern Leads List

Heading the list of returning lettermen is sophomore Craig Stern. The Pittsburgh, Pa., native was last year's number one Topper cross-country runner.

Other returning lettermen are seniors Butch Holden and John Sears; juniors Pete Sullivan and Rich Ziegler, and sophomore Mike Murphy.

Promising Frosh

Freshmen included on the squad are Darrell Myers, Pleasantville, Ohio, who placed third in the 1965 Ohio State Cross-Country Championship meet; Dave Holdman, Tulsa, Okla., who finished third in the Oklahoma State Cross-Country Championship last year, and Pat Courtney, a Hamburg, N.Y. recruit who placed fifth in last year's New York State Cross-Country Championships.

Rounding out the freshman roster are Jim Walker, Jim Zorn, Mike Rearidon, John De Verna and Harry Krampf.

Middle Tennessee Risks Win String, Title Hopes

By DAVID WEST
Herald Sports Editor

Western's undefeated Hilltoppers face defending OVC champion Middle Tennessee here Saturday afternoon. Kick-off time is 1:30 p.m.

A Western win over the pre-season favorites would skyrocket the Toppers into the thick of the jumbled OVC title race.

The Blue Raiders, 2-0 for the season, own a 16-game winning streak and rank second among the nation's college division teams, according to the UPI poll.

Middle Tennessee squeaked by Pensacola 14-12 in their season's opener and then went on to decisively defeat Tennessee (Martin Branch) 10-3 last week.

Western hasn't beaten Bubber Murphy's Raiders since 1963 when the Toppers posted a 16-6 win. MTSU shut out the Toppers 9-0 in 1964 and 21-0 last year.

Typical 'Murphy Team'

Western head coach Nick Denes commented, "This is a typical Bubber Murphy coached team. They are consistent and make few mistakes."

The tough Topper defense, led by such standouts as OVC defensive player of the week Wes Simpson, linebacker Allan Hogan and middle guard Romeo Crehnel, will be out to stymie Middle Tennessee's "Power-I" formation.

The Power-I, beefed up by veteran fullbacks Larry Matthews and Bill Robertson, both of whom averaged over four yards per carry last year, caused the most havoc to the Western defense the past two seasons.

The Hilltoppers, on the other hand, are bound to mount a formidable air-attack, utilizing the bulls-eye passing of frosh quarterback Johnny Vance.

Vance Leads League

Vance hit six of seven passes for 74 yards and one T.D. last week against East Tennessee. And he is a run-away league leader in pass completion percentage with a two-game record of 14 of 19.

Balancing out the Toppers' offensive attack will be leading ground-gainer Jim Vorhees, who has carried the ball 38 times for a total of 172 yards and four touchdowns.

Vorhees' 24 points puts him only six behind league-leading Aaron Marsh of Eastern.

Injured Dickie Moore, last year's league-leading rusher, is still sidelined with a shoulder injury. Coach Denes said this week he expects Moore to be back in the line-up in time for the Toppers' homecoming clash with Eastern Oct. 29.

Denes, who labeled last week's win against the Buccaneers a "great team effort," said a win this Saturday would "take much more of the same kind of effort."

Revamped IM Program Gets Governing Group

By DAVE WEST
Herald Sports Editor

The Hill's largest student sports participation group — Intramurals — appears to be getting off to a fairly organized start this year.

Several new features initiated by IM director Frank Griffin should help to dispel some of the confusion concerning eligibility, rules, officiating and scheduling of events that has dogged the program in recent years.

Perhaps the biggest asset, if fully utilized, will be the newly formed Intramural Council, made up of six students and one graduate assistant.

Provide Student Voice

The main purposes of the council will be to give students a voice in IM affairs and an opportunity to air grievances.

Any intramural participant who has a question concerning policy or rules should inform his representative, who in turn will present the question to the council.

Griffin told council members, "It's your program, your responsibility. I'm in a supervisory capacity."

Cecil Franklin, a graduate assistant, will represent Griffin at council meetings.

Officiating Revised

Franklin pointed out a change in officiating. "Each team will furnish a referee who will officiate on a day other than the day his own team plays," he said. If a team's referee does not show up twice on his scheduled days to officiate, his team forfeits, according to Franklin.

Obviously this is an improvement over last year, when each team provided one official who refereed the game his own team was playing.

Noting that some coeds have complained that the men's division has dominated facilities and equipment, Griffin said he wanted it made clear, "Girls will get equal billing for use of facilities this year."

Griffin admitted that the IM program is cramped for space — mainly due to the 168 sections of P.E., and the six major sports that have precedence over it.

"But we're making the best of what we've got," he said.

Week-end Scheduling

Griffin also noted that IM contests will be scheduled on Saturdays. He is checking into the possibility of having some games on Sunday, to facilitate scheduling of events.

"I'm in favor of Sunday games if they do not interfere with any religious activities. "Matter of fact," mused the coach, "weekend games might be an incentive to keep the suitcase here."

Something else new will be an Intramural awards banquet, this spring. The University will foot the bill for the fete which will honor various winners with trophies.

Swimming Pool Open After Repairs Made

The swimming pool in the Academic-Athletic Building was closed for general maintenance and repairs for the past two weeks. The pool was re-opened Monday for recreational and class use.

Westerners Only

Due to the large enrollment this semester, pool usage is limited to Western students, faculty, and staff.

Recreational hours for pool use are 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, except Wednesday, which will be reserved for special intramural girls' swimming.

In addition, the pool will be open Saturday and Sunday, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Two qualified lifeguards will be on duty at all times.

'Free Play' Sessions Set To Begin Monday

Dr. William H. Solley, head of the physical education department, and Frank Griffin, intramural director, report that Western is initiating a "free play" period for students, faculty, and staff of the University.

Starting Monday, equipment may be checked out of the equipment room from 3 to 9 p.m. weekdays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays and 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Over 200 Attend

IM Council Elected
At Organizational Meet

An estimated 200 students attended an organizational meeting of the Intramural program last week at Diddle Arena.

Frank Griffin, director of intramurals, will be assisted this year by Mrs. Ballard Moore and Cecil Franklin.

Mrs. Moore will be in charge of the women's division, while Franklin will work in the men's division.

Griffin estimates that over 2,000 students will participate in one or more intramural sports this year.

Council Elected

A six-member Intramural Council was elected at the meeting.

Named to the governing group were Scott Brewer, Sigma Nu, fraternities representative; Marty Schey, Kappa Delta, sororities representative; Lois Alix, Women's Recreational Association representative; Billy Walters, dormitories representative; Ron Beach, representative-at-large and Jerry Geiser, Alpha Phi Omega, clubs representative.

The council will meet the second Tuesday in each month.

Entries for flag football and bowling will be taken beginning tomorrow. Competition is slated to start Monday.

A complete calendar of activities is being prepared now and is scheduled to be published in the next edition of the Herald.

Griffin said that a total of seven playing fields will be available for upcoming flag football competition.

Three of the fields are located adjacent to the AAB, and three are on the old IM field near Barnes-Campbell and Bemis Lawrence dorms.

The seventh field is on the University's training school baseball field.

A list of rules governing eligibility and participation in intramural activities has been released by the IM Faculty Committee.

New Regulations

1. Everyone living in a dormitory must play for a team in the dorm in which he lives. (There may be more than one team from a single dorm.)

2. All independent team participants must live off-campus.

3. All fraternity, sorority and club members are urged to play for their respective organizations. (There may be more than one team for a fraternity, sorority or club.)

4. Students living off campus or in dorms may play for their fraternity, sorority or club. All clubs, fraternities and sororities must be recognized, or be in the process of being recognized, by the University and have a faculty sponsor.

5. Persons on athletic scholarships will not be eligible to participate in the sport for which they have the scholarship.

6. Any student making normal progress toward a degree from Western is eligible for intramurals.

7. Graduate students making normal progress toward a degree are eligible.

8. Participants must remain with the same group or organization with which they start for the entire semester.

9. If a player's name appears on two rosters, the player will decide which team he wishes to participate with before engaging in an activity.

10. After rosters are submitted to the intramural office on a specified date, a player cannot transfer to another roster until the end of the semester.

11. A team may submit an incomplete roster. Fraternities, sororities and clubs must submit their entire membership roster with their faculty advisor's signature.

12. If an isolated case of eligibility presents itself, the Intramural Sports Board will decide eligibility.

Emphasis on Education

New Program Being Initiated By Physical Ed. Department

By JOHN HANO?

A new program designed to give students a greater selectivity in physical education activity courses has been implemented this semester by Western's P.E. department.

Emphasis on Learning

According to Dr. William Solley, head of the department, the emphasis of the new program is on learning rather than participation.

Most Western students are required to complete two one-hour classes in physical education as part of the general education program.

Prior to this year, these requirements could be satisfied by selecting two of a wide range of activity courses.

have afforded the student with a complete selection of activity courses of his preference.

Dr. Solley said that such was not the case, however, for the closing of sections during previous registrations forced a vast majority of students into classes which they did not specifically desire.

The department head also noted that some students were registering for beginning classes in which they already had high levels of playing ability.

The new program is based on the concept that the two one-hour classes should encourage the student to increase his personal level of physical fitness and provide him with the opportunity to learn several new activities usable by him both currently and in the future.

P.E. 101 will emphasize physical fitness during the first eight-week bi-term and activity participation the second bi-term.

Fitness Test

At the beginning of the

Denes Sends Tops

course, a seven-item physical fitness test and a swimming test are administered to all students.

Non-swimmers are automatically placed in a beginning swimming class. The remaining students participate in body conditioning activities.

At the start of the second eight-weeks, students are assigned to one of ten different activities — swimming, folk and social dancing, wrestling, gymnastics and tumbling, body conditioning, archery, recreational sports, golf, or bowling.

Assignments will be made on the basis of student preference and initial levels of ability whenever possible.

Additional Courses

This procedure will also be followed for P.E. 102. P.E. 103 and 104 will be offered to allow students to select additional P. E. courses beyond the two required for general education.

Students taking the latter two courses would be given priority in enrollment to assure their getting the course of their choice.

Quarterbacks Fight Injury Jinx

By JOE HINDS
Asst. Sports Editor

Western's backfield coach Jimmy Feix must think a jinx has been placed on his quarterbacks.

For the past two years, starting quarterbacks were injured just before the first game, thus moving a freshman into the starting position.

Two seasons ago Hoosier Ralph Siebel of Greensburg, Ind., was Feix's choice to replace the graduated Sharon Miller at quarterback. Siebel, then a sophomore, was expected "to win national recognition before graduation."

He gave up his position on the freshman basketball team to concentrate on football, but hurt his leg in a scrimmage, and Feix had to go with a freshman.

The freshman was 18-year-old Mike Egan who proved himself under fire last year and gave Western coaches high hopes for this season.

Egan completed 60 of 134 passes for 797 yards and six touchdowns, an OVC record. Not even Feix, who was freshman signal caller for Western in the 1950's, did as well.

Jinx On Schedule

The jinx hit again this season—right on schedule. Egan injured his hip while working out with his former teammates at Louisville's Bishop David High School before official practice started.

This accident forced Feix to start all over again. He handed the assignment of running Western's team to another freshman.

Johnny Vance, a raw-boned 17-year-old, raised eyebrows with his come-from-behind performance against St. Joseph's College of Indiana in the season opener. The 6-foot-4, 180-pound Glasgow product clicked on eight of 12 passes for 114 yards and a 66.7 completion percentage, second best in the OVC.

Graham Impressive

Johnny Graham, another freshman quarterback, looked impressive in the first game as the place kick holder. Graham faked a try for the PAT but rolled out right to complete a pass for two points.

TOPPER TOSSERS—Depth at quarterback has been one of the key factors in Western's success this season. Glasgow freshman Johnny Vance (left) has guided the Hilltoppers to two wins after being pressed into action when a pre-season injury sidelined sophomore Mike Egan (right). Freshman Johnny Graham, who has been used primarily in PAT situations, gives backfield coach Jimmie Feix added depth at quarterback.

Versatile Vance

The productive freshman, who is also a standout baseball and basketball player, continued, "Behind 21-0, we had to pass and get on the scoreboard quickly."

And that he did. Vance brought his team down to the one-yard line and bulied over for the Hilltoppers' first touchdown.

Feix praised his newest freshman quarterback. "He got first down yardage on critical third-down plays three times.

Johnny had a high school habit of throwing to the primary receiver regardless of the coverage, but he corrected that pronto.

"Only three of his 14 passes went to primary receivers and four completions went to the secondary man.

ing with a 24-yard field goal with 2:25 left in the contest.

In addition to the 66 points amassed in the two outings by the Hilltopper offense, Western's stingy defensive unit has yielded just 59 net yards rushing and only one TD on the ground.

Third Choice

"He rocked me back once during a timeout when I asked him about the coverage on the primary receiver. He replied, 'Coach, he was covered. And I saw the secondary man (the tight end) was held up at the line of scrimmage. So I went to the third receiver.'

"When I played, I could never find more than two receivers," Feix concluded.

New Dorms Planned

with from $400 to $500 which most students would pay for rooms and meals while living in an on-campus dormitory.

Milliken said the Western housing office will handle applications from students who want to live in one of the towering residence halls.

The dorm complex planned for the By-pass-Chestnut street site is to be constructed by Allen Brothers and O'Hara, a Memphis firm which is working with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee, Wis.

Much of the site proposed for the twin residence halls is owned by the Ogden Foundation, and the structures are to be named Ogden Towers. The Ogden Foundation is a non-profit organization which uses income from the Ogden College Estate for educational purposes — primarily scholarship aid for Western students.

The part of the construction site not owned by the Foundation has been optioned for purchase from four adjacent landowners.

To House 1,100

The two buildings will house approximately 1,100 students—more than 500 men in the 11-story tower and more than 500 women in its 10-story neighbor. The towers are to be connected at the ground level by a lobby, cafeteria and recreation area. Parking for 415 cars is planned.

Two students in one room will share a bath with two suite-mates in an arrangement like that planned for Western Towers. Other facilities and conveniences are expected to be comparable to those offered by Western Towers, and although no rent rate has been announced, that, too, is expected to be similar.

Western officials expect the opening of the new residence hall complexes next year to help ease the housing shortage which has plagued the University during recent years.

However, the shortage is expected to continue. Even with the opening of three on-campus dorms this year, Western has 3,800 dormitory beds available for an enrollment which exceeds the nearly 8,000 students who attended university classes last year.

Dr. John D. Minton, dean of the Graduate School, attended a recent KEA and State Department of Education conference in Frankfort.

The conference studied the minimum foundation program for public school teachers in Kentucky.

Some meets scheduled for the first semester include Emory University Nov. 3-5 and University of Georgia novice, Nov. 18-19. The Kentucky Intercollegiate Forensic Conference will be at Murray State University, Dec. 2-3.

The national debate topic for this year is "Resolved: that the United States should substantially reduce its foreign policy commitments."

Gary Bradford, instructor of speech, has joined the staff as assistant director of forensics. His primary responsibility will be coaching the beginning debate team.

Officers for the coming year are president, George Wilson, a four-year debater and senior speech major from Louisville; vice-president, Doug Matyka, also a four-year debater and senior speech and mass media major from Bowling Green; and Judy Woodring, junior speech major from Providence, secretary.

'South Pacific' Auditions Begin

Auditions for "South Pacific," the first musical production of the Western Players and the music department this season, began Monday.

The production is tentatively planned for mid-November in Van Meter Auditorium with Dr. Russell H. Miller of the English department as producing director; Virgil Hale, music department, as music supervisor and conductor of the orchestra, and James Brown, English department, as technical director.

The play, an adaptation from James A. Michener's Pulitzer Prize winning "Tales of the South Pacific," takes place against the background of a South Pacific island. The plot revolves around two romantic themes.
